

LifeNet

Network for Geomancy and Transformation

MEDITATION OF THE MONTH MAY 20TH TO JUNE 20TH 2010

Proposed by Marko Pogačnik

In the times of change we should not neglect the so-called causal dimensions of our being, of places and landscapes. These are dimensions that hold the most of ours or Earth's life powers. The Egyptian culture spoke of "Ka" as the personal second (inner) self and the treasury containing the original life pattern plus the primeval powers needed to manifest it within the physical reality. The esoteric tradition speaks about the causal body of the human being. In my texts I present it as the etheric double of our personal self.

In this sense the human being is an amphibian being with the outer self immersed in the world of the materialized reality, and the inner self ("Ka" = (ka)usal self) that stands in permanent relationship with one's eternal soul.

Also places and landscapes know their "Ka" - a dimension that is of great importance in the times of change, when things are shifting permanently. It is the place of stability, a possible retreat for life's organism in some extreme situations.

- Be aware that your backbone is upright and give attention to the channel vibrating along the spine. Be aware that its vibrating column is the source of one's life.
- What follows is contacting the causal dimension of one's being, from where one's "tree of life" is being fed.
- Send a thin ray of light from your heart center into infinity. Then you should travel with this ray around your head into the space behind your back, taking the heart centre as the central point of this rotation. Be all the time aware that the ray is touching infinity.
- When you come closer to the lower area of your back, the ray becomes shorter and shorter, finally only a point of eternity behind your back. Now you arrived at the center of your "Ka". Find out what does it mean to you.
- Watch perhaps how the archetypal powers of your "Ka" (causal levels) are interacting with the column of your "tree of life".
- Via resonance you can watch how this interaction relates to the Earth as a body. One can imagine its vertical channel ("tree of life") pulsating between the South and the North Pole. Its "Ka" is stored within the core of the planet. Along the Equator the archetypal powers of the Earth's causal body are spilling into the manifested worlds at its surface.
- Visualizing this kind of flows within yourself or the Earth, the green and golden colors should be used and not the red one, because it would activate some other levels.